Los Angeles Area Gets New Regional Sales Manager

Germantown, WI—March 2024— Tom Land has been hired by WAGO to become their new Regional Sales Manager in the Los Angeles area. With a strong background in automation, sales, as well as field service and repair, Tom brings a wealth of knowledge to his new position.

For nearly 30 years he has become familiar with the area as a district and regional sales manager for a few different companies, a strength he hopes to build on. "I want to use my experience and extensive knowledge of the Los Angeles market to expand the WAGO sales into new markets where possible," says Land. "I look forward to bringing new products and solutions to new markets to help further spread the WAGO message."

Welcome to WAGO, Tom!
